God's Heroes

That eminent divine and teacher of the young, Canon Farrar, wrote the following words: "To go on cheerfully with a petty round of little duties, to smile for the joy of others when the heart is aching. Who does this, his works will follow him. He may not be a hero in the world, but he is one of God's Heroes." God's Heroes! the words contain no little meaning. The inspiration is profound in the line of conduct it exalts. It is easier for men to be heroes amidst scenes when the red blood stirs than in the calm of everyday life. It is easier to answer the call to duty, to lead, it may be, a forlorn hope when the trumpet sounds and the din of battle rages, with the atmosphere which encourages and stimulates superb courage, than to be heroes in the deeds which are not chronicled. Saying this does not in the least minimize the glory of those achievements, but it serves to accentuate that doing of good silently, seen not by the eyes of men, but of God. There can be no better term for men and women who in the humdrum moments of life do what is God's work for humanity than "God's heroes".

Fame and reward, as men esteem them, are not the portion of those who do the work and achieve the signal attainment of being included in the roll of God's heroes. Their reward is the inward satisfaction which the deeds in themselves bring. Their names are not writ in history; they never will be. They justify themselves in themselves.

To smile for the joy of others when the heart is aching seems, and often is, an impossible thing. There is the Divine spark of usefulness in those who can so deliver themselves. Man's love for fellow man is thereby undeniably demonstrated, and what is man's love for his fellow man but God's love demonstrated by the human being. It is the greatest of loves far exceeding that love of the mother for her child in the inspiration in which it has its source. To smile for the joy of others is a superb achievement. Well may he or she who is capable of this be called "God's heroes." Can it not be said of these that "of such is the Kingdom of Heaven"?

Maleb News

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Royan and family were visitors with Mrs. E. Goldreich on Sunday.

Crop Report

Alberta farmers enter the third week in July with crop prospects considerably improved over a month ago, owing to the late rains, which have been fairly general over the province. These rains while they have come too late in some districts to guarantee a heavy crop, have helped the later sown grain, considerably, and have made a fair crop certain where fallures would have been the result. Taking the province as a whole, the grain crop will average up well. The dry crops in the central and northern districts will be light, but the late rains will produce a good deal of green feed. The South Western areas are certain sure of a crop that will exceed anything realized in that area for the past five years.

The South Eastern areas are spotted alternately with good crop stands and with poor. Frequent showers have visited many areas and have much improved the situation. In the central and northern areas there are some districts in which the grain has been retarded by drought to such an extent that it will make a light crop but generally speaking the late rains have brought on the later crops very satisfactorily.

South-western areas—Continued heavy rains have been experienced from Calgary south to Lethbridge and the boundary, and westward, with the exception of a few districts on the Alderley branch, where the crops have suffered. The indications in the south-western areas are for a heavier crop yield than has been experienced since 1905, and in some cases it is anticipated that the yields will be heavier than in 1915. Alfalfa cutting has been in progress in the irrigation districts, and the yield will be fair. Some of this crop has been winter killed. Precipitation for first two weeks in July at Raymond was 2.3 inches, at Leth 1.53, at Carletonville 2.27 inches. Rye is four feet eight inches high at Carletonville and Lethbridge, and wheat is two feet six inches. Alfalfa yields are about 35 per cent less than a year ago. South-eastern districts—The district east of Calgary on the C. P. R. main line and in the Medicine Hat section report further good local showers, and improved conditions as a result, though a few sections report damage from drought. Grichen district reports rainfall 2.98 inches since July 28. Medicine Hat reports good showers over many parts of that district.

Central districts—A fair average crop will be cut in these areas, there have been good rains along the eastern section of the province north of Red Deer River. Along the C. and E.

KEY TO ILLUSTRATIONS

(1) It is not only among the Allies that the German ex-Emperor seems to have lost somewhat of his popularity. This dome-shaped pavilion behind the high board fence covers a famous and fine fountain which was erected in Constantinople as a permanent memorial of the ex-Kaiser's visit there in 1897. It is boarded up now, probably because the Turks hate to be reminded of the way in which Wilhelm led them astray during the Great War.

(2) A family reunion. The arrival of the Prince of Wales in England after returning from India was made the occasion for a great celebration in London. This photograph of the Royal Family was made soon after his arrival at Buckingham Palace. From left to right they are: Queen Mary, Prince Henry, Prince of Wales, Duke of York, H.M. the King, Viscountess Lascelles and Princess Mary.

(3) Canada's newest ocean liner, the Canadian Pacific Steamer "Empress of Canada," received a warm welcome on her first appearance at Vancouver the other day, where she marked a new era in the development of Canada's trans-Pacific trade. She is of 10,000 gross register and 525 feet long. She is equipped by two sets of turbines and has attained a first class speed of 22 knots. She is the first steamer to visit Vancouver to Yokohama, Kobe, Nagasaki, Shanghai, Manila and Hong Kong.

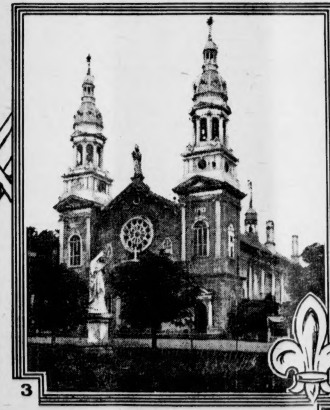

(4) The future Queen of Holland, Princess Juliana, in the quaint costume of the Flemish people over whom she will likely be one day called to rule. The Princess is now thirteen years of age.

(5) Mr. Alfred Price who, after forty years service with the C.P.R., has relinquished his duties as general manager of eastern lines on the advice of his physicians. Mr. Price began his business life as a telegraph messenger at Toronto and has come to be one of the most widely known and most popular railway men in Canada.

(4) John J. Scully, who succeeds Alfred Price as general manager C.P.R. eastern lines. He joined the C.P.R. as office boy in 1887 and his advance to his present position has been marked by his having held a number of important posts in the company's service in both eastern and western Canada.

(7) With H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught time passes in a kindly way. This photograph was snapped in London less than a month ago and shows that extremely popular member of the Royal Family to have changed ~~not at all~~ since the time when he first arrived in Canada to assume office as Governor-General and incidentally to win the warm friendship of all Canadians.

(8) Here is the world's largest steer. He was born in Texas, weighs 4,200 lbs. and stands 19 hands high. Standing beside him is the world's champion heifer, middle.

(1) Mountain climbing in the Canadian Pacific Rockies. The season is just starting and enthusiasts are already making plans for the year's climb. Most of the parties set out from Banff, facilities for climbing the mountains in that neighborhood offering special attractions to those who have learned the delights of that sport.

(2) The beautiful Basilica of Ste. Anne de Beaupre, destroyed by fire last month, the loss amounting to $1,350,000. The building contained a famous relic of Ste. Anne which resided in a golden shrine, and a great number of crucifixes which had been left by pilgrims cured there. Both shrine and crucifixes were destroyed. It is assumed that building will be replaced by a still more imposing structure.

(3) A new portrait of Dr. Randall Davison, Archbishop of Canterbury, the titular head of the Anglican communion. It was taken at the time of Princess Mary's wedding and shows his Grace wearing a cope as did the other bishops present at the ceremony.

(5) Fishing time is here again and the anglers, hearing the call, are already busy getting the tackle into shape. This pleasure, taken in the Laurentians where good sport abounds, is typical of scenes the coming month will see enacted in all the accessible fishing grounds of Canada where loon- and shag-calls are still in vogue.

(4) A friendly little Genet or Civet Cat, one of the most popular inmates of London, England's great Zoo. He comes from southern Europe and in some parts of South France and Spain is a household pet whose talents as a cat and mouse catcher make him decidedly popular.

(7) The famous shrine and relic of Sts. Anne and Sts. Anne de Beaupre. The arm with the hand clasped in the attitude of blessing and the figures on either side are of gold, the arm being a little larger than life-size. Inside the arm and seen through a glass covering is the relic, a piece of one of the arm bones of Sts. Anne, the mother of the Virgin Mary.

Select Laxative Medicine With Great Care

In debility and weakness, medicine should be mild and far reaching. Many pills and purgatives are hard, are drastic instead of curative. Excessive action is always followed by depression, and knowing this Dr. Hamilton devised his pills of Man Drake and Nutmeg, so as to increase liver and kidney activity, so as to flush out the system and regulate the bowels. Thus Dr. Dr. Hamilton's pills eliminate poisons from the body, thus do they restore clearness to the skin, thus do they re-new health and strength. To keep your system in healthy good working order, regular it with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, the all dealers of the Caribbean Co., Montreal.

I laughed. "I hope my application did not give you such a false impression," I said. "I was just looking for false impressions," Miss Pike replied. "When I had said that you did not seem to have had the sort of experience that we wanted, and that he'd let you were a lady that never does a day's work in your life because you're 'half where we would say' 'will-I told him that I was going to have you anyway. You see," she finished apologetically, "I am the youngest of the family and the only girl, and I suppose I am spoiled."

After this explanation we talked with less constraint, and by the time we reached the farm I had classified Miss Gypsy as a new and very interesting specimen. John Pike, in the proud owner of a model farm, and as such has been photographed and interviewed for all the agricultural journals in the province. Unlike most of the farm homes we had passed, this one is surrounded by trees, the native poplars and firs of the Scotch, and magnificent Scotch firs that were planted thirty years ago by Mrs. Pike when she came here a bride. The house stands on a natural terrace, and below this is a level stretch of land, which reaches to the bank of the little river. At a good distance from the house are the barns and other outbuildings, among the latter being a galvanneum from a garage as obviously new as its owners.

"Well, just drive around to the kitchen door," said Miss Gypsy. "Mother will likely be getting supper ready." Mrs. Pike came to meet us and welcomed me kindly, but I could see that she too was rather surprised by my appearance. I am beginning to think that I must have been a little helpless look!

"Just set here a minute," she said. "For we had been informed to 'phone Orville takes the car to the garage' (she pronounced "garage" to rhyme with "carriage"). I don't leave these potatoes long enough to take you upstairs."

Mrs. Pike is a fine-looking woman, and it is evident from the way Gypsy inherits her beautiful skin and color, but it is also quite

Backache

Backache is the outstanding symptom of kidney disease. Women often make the mistake of attributing other causes and overlook the derangement of the kidneys until serious developments have made it difficult to obtain permanent relief.

This letter points to a treatment which has been so thoroughly tried and proven to be effective in the great majority of cases that you cannot afford to overlook it when cause arises for its use.

Mrs. Albert Brunet, R.R. No. 1, Ottawa, Ont., writes: "My Kidney-Liver Pills for the past two months, having been afflicted with kidney trouble. I tried two doctors' medicine, but with no success, without any good results. A friend told me to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and the second box made me feel a good deal better. I have now used about six or eight boxes, and am completely relieved."

Stella Explains a Queer Sea Animal to Her Brownies.

STELLA'S Brownies had been so completely fascinated seeing the fierce, angry fight between the two Hermit crabs (for they had both been so terribly in earnest) that they really were sorry when the day of the battle was over—when one "hermit" had wandered away and the other had decided to rest in its comfortable home.

It had been, for a short time, pulled out by its "hermit" enemy. "The hermit" had retreated as far as possible, as though "into its home," and the fight really was a thing of the past, the two Brownies all drew a deep, "well that's over" breath, and then they looked around, hoping for more strange sights to see.

Safely perched on the rocks, they were gazing down into the quiet water. In fact, the water was so very still that they could look straight through to the sandy bottom, and, oh, how many, many queer things they saw!

Their attention was promptly claimed by the oddest kind of gray, shell "honey combs" that seemed to be attached and growing from one of the rocks under the water.

"What in the world can those be?" Kinkapoo thoughtfully murmured. "I never saw anything like them! Let's wish that Stella were here so that she could tell us."

"Yes, let's!" exclaimed the other three Brownies, and they all closed their eyes very tight and "wished" ever so hard for their darling Wishing Fairy.

In less than a minute she was with them—she had come all the way from the End-of-the-Earth! The Brownies weren't even surprised when they opened their eyes and saw her, for they knew only too well that she would be with them and join them as quickly as magic made possible.

"Well, what do you want?" she asked with a smile, she sat down on a rock beside Snookums. "I knew that you were wishing for me, so here I am."

"We want you to tell us what those queer things are, Stella," answered Pimble as he pointed to the honey-comb like growths on the rock. "Then the cried excitedly, 'there is a funny little wave branch coming out from one of the cells!'"

"Oh!" exclaimed the Fairy as her eyes followed the Brownie's pointing finger.

"Those are Barnacles, and those feathery things are feet that wave out from their shells. See, just as they are now waving their feet—they always do that when the water is motionless and they are undisturbed. That is how they get their food. The feathery part of these feet, which, as you called them a moment ago, stir the surrounding water and in this way sends all kinds of little creatures into their mouths—such creatures that are too tiny to be seen. When a Barnacle is old enough it draws in these pulsed feet very often and tightly closes its shell against its enemies. They move away, as you can see, for each Barnacle is attached to the rock; but then, they don't want to. They are perfectly happy."

"Barnacles lay eggs and their babies swim away around them, but they don't stay in the shell, the bottom of a boat or some piece of old wood and begin growing little shells of their own. And they stay in the same place until they die, when their shells remain until they, too, rot away, and more Barnacles grow in their place."

Let me help around the house. I can do a few things, you know. "Well, Mother, what do you say?" asked Mrs. Pike.

"I'll be glad to have you stay, Miss Elton," replied his wife. "Gypsy don't seem to take to the neighbors' girls, or I often think that she must get lonely here all winter with no folks to talk to."

"Turns!" exclaimed Gypsy. "I'm not such a dismal failure as an employment agent after all, am I?" And she hugged first her father and then her mother—and then gave me a shy little squeeze too!

So I wrote to Mr. Arnold at once and told her I should be here as Gypsy's first guest for a couple of weeks, and then I felt that I could turn it in and have a good time according to Mr. Pike's instructions. For the benefit of philologists, I may record that "right" is the most overworked word in the Canadian vocabulary.

Fly by Night Between England and France

Commercial Value of Aerial Commerce is Greatly Enhanced

Night flying between England and France, which was inaugurated recently is expected to add impetus to the commercial value of aerial communication. It saves time, and makes possible remarkable train and steamship connections which were before impossible.

The first plane to travel between London and Paris at night left the London air station at 9 o'clock and landed at the Paris aerodrome upon midnight. It contained Brigadier-General W. B. Bransford, director of civil aviation; Colonel L. F. Blandy, controller of air communications, a navigator, pilot, two wireless operators and mechanic.

The air station at Croissy, outside London, was ablaze with search lights, colored electric ribbons, and powerful incandescent arc lamps. The illuminated cabin of the machine and the red, white and green navigating lights made it an object of rare beauty as it rose in the darkness and headed for the coast.

Mina's Liniment for Dandruff

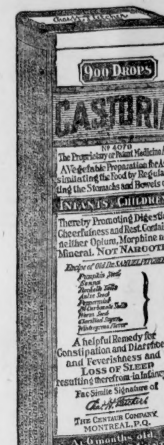

Are You Human?

A little baby. A little child. Don't they appeal to you? Doesn't your heart yearn to pick them up, to cuddle them close to you, to shield them from all harm? sure it does else you're not human. Being human you love them. Their very helplessness makes you reach out in all your strength to aid them. In health there's no flower so beautiful. In illness there's no sight so black.

Save them then. Use every precaution. Take no chance.

When sickness comes, as sickness will, remember it's just a baby, just a child and if the Physician isn't at hand don't try some remedy that you may have around the house for your own use.

Fletcher's Castoria was made especially for babies' ills and you can use it with perfect safety as any doctor will tell you. Keep it in the house.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

A Word About Truth.

"Great is Truth, and mighty above all things." So says the Old Testament, yet it is equally true to-day. Truth shows no favors, fears no enemies.

From the inception of Fletcher's Castoria, Truth has been the watchword, and to the conscientious adherence to this motto in the preparation of Fletcher's Castoria as well as in its advertising is due the secret of its popular demand.

All imitations, all substitutes, all just-as-good preparations lack the element of Truth, lack the righteousness of being, lack all semblance even in the words of those who would deceive.

And you! Mothers, mothers with the fate of the World in your hands, can you be deceived? Certainly not.

Fletcher's Castoria is prepared for Infants and Children. It is distinctly a remedy for the little-ones. The BABY'S need for a medicine to take the place of Castor Oil, Paregoric and Soothing Syrup was the sole thought that led to its discovery. Never try to correct BABY'S troubles with a medicine that you would use for yourself.

MOTHERS SHOULD READ THE BOOKLET THAT IS AROUND EVERY BOTTLE OF FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Remarkable Test With New Handley Page Machines

The stunts of the new Handley Page W 8 A aeroplanes was demonstrated during a recent flight from which the pilot was able to fly with his hands off the controlling wheel from Beauvais, near Paris, to Croissy, a distance of roughly 200 miles.

Wise and experienced mothers know when their children are troubled with worms and lose no time in applying Miller's Worm Powders, a most reliable remedy for the purpose of clearing the system of worms and restoring the normal conditions without which there can be no comfort for the child, or hope of robust growth. It is a most trustworthy worm exterminator.

Trawl Net Took Fire

Phosphorus Burnt Into Flames When Exposed to Air

A story of how part of a catch in a trawl net burst into flames when brought to the surface, is told by fisherman.

They were bringing in the net when, to their astonishment, they saw flame coming from it. Because of the risk of fire to the vessel, they had to abandon their haul.

It is believed that the flames came from a quantity of phosphorus which had somehow been scooped into the net. It is a substance which is preserved intact in water, but which takes fire readily when exposed to air.

Phosphorus was largely used in the war in making smoke-bombs used to form smoke screens for concealing vessels during sea fighting.

Vickers Amphibian Flying First Vessel of its Class to Reach Canada

The Laurentian Air Service has received from England a "Vickers Amphibian Viking," the first flying vessel of its class to reach Canada, and representing the latest thing in post-war airplane construction. The machine was purchased two months ago in England. It is in high favor throughout Canada and its excellence has carried it far beyond the seas. If it were double the price it would be a cheap investment.

Prohibit Gold Export For Another Year

War Measure to be Enforced Until July, 1923

A proclamation has been issued in an extra edition of the Canada Gazette, extending the prohibition of the export of gold coin, gold bullion and fine gold bars for another year. The proclamation is limited under an act passed three years ago, authorizing the continuance of the measure taken during the war to prohibit the export of gold. The present extension of the prohibition keeps it in force until July 1, 1923, unless an earlier termination is made by proclamation.

THERE IS DANGER IN WATERY BLOOD

If Not Corrected Serious Results May Follow

In no trouble is danger or neglect more dangerous than anaemia, a poverty of the blood. It is very common in young girls and in persons who are overworked or confined within doors. It makes its approach in so stealthy a manner that it is often well developed before its presence is recognized. But taken in time there is a tonic medicine which increases the number of red blood corpuscles, thus causing the blood to carry the life-giving oxygen to all the tissues of the body. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have had much success in the treatment of this stubborn trouble because of this wonderful property.

The correction of anaemic conditions by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is as certain as anything can be. Take as an example the case of Miss Mary D. Kellogg, Charlotte, N.C., who says: "My blood was thin and watery, and my system very much run down. I could not do any work or walk upstairs without resting. I suffered greatly from headaches, my appetite was poor and I was also troubled with indigestion. I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and in a short time the results showed that only used six boxes but an now feel strong and better than I have done for several years. From my personal experience I can strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

Stands First in Volume of Commerce Per Head of Population

Addressing the parliamentary committee of the League of Nations, Sir Charles Gordon, one of the Canadian delegates, stated that the volume of imports and exports Canada stood fourth among the thirty-four nations represented. In volume of commerce per head of population Canada stands first, and in export trade third, being exceeded only by Great Britain and the United States.

Short Course for Publishers

Great Interest Being Taken in Conference of Western Weekly Newspaper Men

The first Short Course and Conference for Newspaper Publishers, which was held at Manitoba Agricultural College in August last year, provided four days of interest, value and enjoyment to the newspaper men who attended it and was the successful beginning of a community service of importance to the West. It is now an assured certainty that this year's edition of the Short Course and Conference will be of four days' duration, likewise Tuesday, August 8, will be still more interesting and enjoyable and of greater value to those attending it. It will be a greater success, a success on a larger scale.

Representatives and all other human institutions exist for the purpose of serving the community, and their justification for existence can be measured only by the value of their service to the community. The Department of Agriculture of Manitoba provides a community service of many kinds and in varied ways; a large proportion of this service has Manitoba Agricultural College as its centre and basis of operation, and the improvement of agriculture, the betterment of the conditions of life and work of the men and women engaged in the basic industry of this country as its purpose. Every agency, every institution which serves this purpose serves and promotes the progress and prosperity of the country as a whole.

Nothing is more important in this connection than the promotion of a vigorous community spirit in every district. The local newspaper is, or should be, the voice of the community spirit. In co-operating with the local newspaper, the Short Course and Conference, Manitoba Agricultural College is thus doing a public service of inestimable value. The committee in charge are making plans for the Short Course and Conference next August which will provide, it has been noted, more varied interest and enjoyment for each day than characterized last year's Short Course and Conference. The newspapermen who bring their wives with them will be doubly delighted, and so will their wives. There will be no lack of entertainment for either.

Manitoba Agricultural College, with its spacious buildings, beautiful surroundings, comfortable rooms and the good fare provided in its bright and airy dining hall, is an ideal place for such a gathering, especially in August.

The programme of addresses and discussions will afford opportunities of great value for the communication of ideas, the exchanging of experiences and the assimilation of information. In addition there will be the newspaper competition conducted on a similar line to that of last year. The competition is open to newspapermen published in towns of not more than 4,000 inhabitants between Lake Superior and British Columbia. Six prizes are offered besides the cup provided by the Linotype Company as a trophy for the winner of the first prize. There will also be two other competitions. One is for the cup offered by the Sales Managers' Association of Canada to the newspaper giving the best advertising service to local merchants during the month of July, 1922, and the other is the competition for the gold watch put up by the Toronto Type Foundry Co. limited, for the newspaper giving the best local news service.

Discover Ancient Village

Laying Out of Private Grounds Reveals Curious Relics

What is believed to be a prehistoric village with pottery 4,000 years old has just been discovered during the laying out of private grounds at St. John's, Devon.

Over 300 articles, the majority of the neolithic age, have been unearthed. They include flint weapons, adzes, boring tools, a scraper and other relics of the period. Probably the most valuable find is a profile portrait of a woman on an inner disk of flint, the features being shaped by numerous small cuts, giving indisputable proof of secondary working. It is similar to other specimens found several years ago, when the late Dr. Alfred Russell Williams described them as a distinct addition to our knowledge of primitive man. Some of the articles, it is claimed, establish continuous occupation of the site for many centuries before Christ. The discoveries have been made by David Chambers, who has submitted several specimens to the British Museum, from which reports have been received, confirming the antiquity of the finds.

MRS. FRANK WILKIE, of Syracuse, N. Y., formerly married at the State Reformatory at Industry, N. Y., who says she is delighted with Tansie since it relieved her health after she suffered eight years.

"This is the first time in eight years that I have been free from stomach trouble and it is all because of the wonderful good Tansie has done me," said Mrs. Frank Wilkie, 233 Cedar St., Syracuse. Mrs. Wilkie formerly resided in Buffalo and for two years was matron of the State Reformatory at Industry, N. Y.

"I was eating scarcely enough to keep alive," she declared, "for I would rather not touch a bite than suffer the misery I know would follow. Even sweet milk disagreed with me. I was sick in bed for two and three days at a time, and gas on my stomach made such awful pressure on my heart I almost cut off by my breath. I had horrible dreams at night and in the morning was all tired out."

"Well, the longest day I will give Tansie, for my improvement has been simply remarkable. I have no more heartburn, my appetite is wonderful, I can eat most anything I want, and my sleep is sound and restful. I am thoroughly delighted with Tansie. It is wonderful."

Guelph. — Realizing that some effort should be made to preserve the old C. P. R. station building, the first house built in Guelph, which is located on a piece of ground at the foot of Woolwich Street, and which is fast going to ruin, the civic improvement committee of Guelph decided to make a move towards having improvements carried out to preserve the building.

Galt.—General Manager M. W. Kirkwood of the Lake Erie & Northern and Grand River Railways has announced that early in July work would be started on the new Union Depot on Main street. The plans have been finally approved and tenders have been called for. The building, which will be of red brick construction, one story in height, but later it is intended to add another story, to accommodate the general offices now located in Scott's Block.

Heese Jaw.—The roof is now on the Dominion Express Company's new building, west of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company office building, and the work is being rushed with great speed. As soon as the Express Company building is in shape to be occupied, the old building will be removed and the work of installing the new tracks will be commenced.

In front of the new depot the concrete roadway is laid in squares of ten feet. The city electricians have completed the installation of the two electric light standards at the outer edges of the sidewalks on both sides of the roadway.

Health Influence

Declaration of Osteopath at Calgary is Rather Startling

CALGARY, July 14.—In line with the men who in the progress of science and discovery, who have been deemed madmen or lunatics; in line with Harvey, the discoverer of blood circulation; with Galileo, pioneer and purveyor of science so apparently is Dr. E.D. Plummer, D.O., who at the convention of osteopaths at the Palliser Hotel on Friday morning, in his address on "Effect of planetary influences," made the statement that he believed that the position of the planets at the time a human being was born, would have to be considered in the diagnosis by physicians of any case which came under their notice.

He said that he had some misgivings in reading the stand he did; that what he had to say was not osteopathy; that he knew it was extremely radical; that it would be considered unscientific, an exploded theory; but he did believe that the old science of Astrology linked up with the discoveries of Dr. Abrams who in his theories of blood reaction, showed that the radio activity of the blood showed clearly the correct diagnosis.

Used Flying Machine To Kill Caterpillars

KENT.—A farmer in Kent with a 20-acre orchard has solved in a new way the problem of ridding his fruit trees of a plague of caterpillars.

He engaged a flying machine loaded it up with a half a ton of insecticide. The machine flew to and fro over the trees at a height of from 15 to 30 yards, scattering the poisonous powder. In half an hour the job was done and it proved quicker and cheaper and much more effective than spraying the trees from the ground.

RABBIT FARMING IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

A SPLENDID HEARTH RUG MADE FROM 29 TANNED RABBIT SKINS.

MRS. McVicker, of "Tivoli," Prospect Lake Vancouver Island, has one of the largest, if not quite the largest, rabbitry in British Columbia, and for the past year has been developing the idea of making yarn from the fine long fur of the beautiful Angora. Another idea is the weaving of rabbit for rugs with a loom. Mrs. McVicker has kept rabbits on a commercial scale for the past five years.

"I have long got past the playful stage," she remarked, "and many people seem to think keeping rabbits is child's play, but it requires knowledge and experience like everything else if one is to be successful." It is not only because she is making a success of an industry she is building up out of her own initiative that Mrs. McVicker is widely known. She is a horticulturist and botanist, and 115 varieties of plants growing in her garden. So remarkable is this garden of wild flowers that the Natural History Society of British Columbia makes a yearly pilgrimage to her home.

GREY BOY "A NINE POUND FLEMISH GIANT"

In comparison with imported Angoras, the product of the B.C. bred rabbits favors the latter. Angoras are plucked two or three times a year. They must be bunched separately and kept immediately clean and well combed so that the long fur is not matted. Otherwise they are cared for the same as other rabbits, and their flesh is a delicacy for the table. Mrs. McVicker's breeds are all white. Some idea of the extent to which Mrs. McVicker goes in for fine stock is gleaned by the fact that in addition to the big rabbitry she keeps chickens and pigeons among which are a pair of Blue Birds weighing 14 pounds, 18 dogs and a Tengerberg goat.
